

Temporary Injunction Issued By Adams County Court In Gas Case; Company Must Post Bond

A temporary injunction was placed by the Adams County Court Monday afternoon against R. Thomas Adams, former operator of the Gettysburg Appliance Store, and now an employee of the N. O. Sixeas Furniture Store, Chambersburg St., prohibiting him from dealing "directly or indirectly" with the sale, distribution or handling of Liquid Petroleum gas in the Gettysburg area.

The Rural Gas Co. of Williamsport, which obtained the injunction, was required to post $10,000 bond until final decision is reached on whether a permanent injunction for three years should apply. The bond is to guarantee reimbursement to Adams for loss caused by the injunction if it should later develop that the injunction should not have been granted.

Robert Horner, Harrisburg, attorney for the Rural Gas Co., said, in response to inquiries by reporters, that the injunction means Adams will have to quit his job with the Sixeas store or be in violation of the injunction. Other attorneys, however, were not quite certain that the injunction would be so strict and held that it might be possible Adams could continue his employment provided he did not accept orders for liquid petroleum gas either in person or over the telephone, speak to no one about liquid petroleum gas and otherwise not engage in any dealings with liquid petroleum gas for the period of the injunction.

Holds Contract Binding
The court, in handing down its decision, held that a contract Adams signed with Rural Gas Co. in 1954 in which he agreed not to be connected in any way with the sale, distribution or handling of Rural Gas for a three-year period after severance of the contract was binding.

Adams said that he had acted in good faith and had conferred with company representatives before becoming employed at the Sixeas store. He said that when it became apparent that he was going to go into bankruptcy, representatives of the Rural Gas Co. suggested that he "sell" the Rural Gas route he was servicing and from the profits pay off a sum of $2,200 that he owed Rural Gas. There was no testimony that such a "sale" took place, but he testified he had talked to company representatives about becoming employed by Sixeas and that a company representative had conferred with Sixeas and had Sixeas sign a contract to handle Rural Gas.

Another Dealership
He said later Sixeas learned that the Wolf's Furniture Store, Two Taverns, had been given the local dealership for Rural Gas. Adams added that he had made no attempt to solicit the customers "owned," as the company put it, by Rural Gas, but had informed some of them that he was no longer connected with Rural Gas and was now working for Sixeas. PLAN TO OPEN OBSERVANCE OF TOWN MARCH 5

The Gettysburg Borough Council will start the town's observance of its 150th anniversary this year with a special program held in connection with the March 5 session of council at the engine house.

Preliminary plans for the observance were outlined Monday evening at a meeting in the borough's office of the steering committee appointed by council at its last session.

Burgess William G. Weaver, chairman of the committee, will read to council at its session March 5 the act of legislature which made Gettysburg a borough on March 10, 1806.

Because the anniversary falls on Saturday it was decided to mark the day by a borough proclamation of it as "Gettysburg Day." The observance by council will be on Monday of that week.

Also scheduled for the council session will be the reading of the minutes of the first meeting of the Gettysburg borough council when it was organized in 1806.

Invite Others To Join
The steering committee also plans to issue invitations to all local organizations asking them to send a representative to a meeting at the engine house on April 16 at which time further plans for a possible pageant, parade and similar activities during the summer can be arranged.

In conjunction with the letter the steering committee plans to send a fact sheet concerning Gettysburg history that may be used by the organization to mark the anniversary date during their March meetings. Attorney Eugene V. Bulleit was named chairman of the group from the steering committee which will search the minutes of borough council for details for the fact sheet. The borough minutes are on file at the engine house.

The films which will be shown each evening will center around the life of Saint Paul. Ash Wednesday's film will be: "Stephen, the First Christian Martyr." BOARD ACCEPTS RESIGNATION OF LLOYD HARTMAN AFTER 40 YEARS

The Gettysburg Joint School Board Monday evening accepted with regret the resignation of Lloyd R. Hartman, Meade school principal and a veteran of 40 years of school teaching.

Accepting the resignation with regret, the board directed that a resolution of appreciation be delivered to Mr. Hartman for the board expressing the "thanks of the school officials for Hartman's many years of faithful, capable service." The resignation will be effective at the end of the current school year.

Mr. Hartman taught for the last 37 years in Gettysburg. His first three years were served in the school at Hampton.

"Welcome" College Help
The board also accepted with regret the resignation, effective April 1, of Mrs. Ida Dorene Crouse, second grade teacher at Meade school. A substitute will be secured to finish the year as second grade teacher.

The board went on record as "welcoming" consideration of any plan to be submitted by Gettysburg College's physical education department under which college students could be used to supervise play on elementary school playgrounds here. The possibility of such a plan was developed at the burg PTA.

The directors also discussed the need for additional playground equipment and for a follow-up program.

Death Toll In Europe's Cold Wave Soars To A Record 418

LONDON (AP)—The death toll in Europe's disastrous freeze - up soared to at least 418 in the West today. No letup was in sight in the heavy snows and bitter cold gripping the battered Continent.

Storms and ice packs brought peril to ships at sea.

The century's worst cold wave - now in its third week - stretched right down into the Mediterranean. It brought untold hardships to residents of southern areas unprepared for bitter weather.

U. S. Navy planes stationed near Naples joined the giant operation to bring relief to thousands of suffering Italians. They were to drop 300 food packages to south Italian villages and on Sicily.

Bad weather slowed the airlift of U. S. Army supplies from Germany to Italy. But 350 American soldiers toiled through the frigid night at Leghorn to ready a 25-car

Fred G. Pfeffer Seeks GOP Office

Fred G. Pfeffer, local tile manufacturer, today announced his candidacy for chairman of the Republican County Committee. If elected he will succeed John H. Bashore who has served sixteen years in that post and who is not a candidate for re-election.

Petitions for the new candidate were placed in circulation today throughout the county.

YOUNG PIANIST PLEASURES LARGE AUDIENCE HERE

"An appreciative audience applauded Herman Godes, young pianist from Latvia, for four encores in Gettysburg College's Christ Chapel Monday evening in the second of the Gettysburg Community Concert Association programs. About 800 people heard Godes play compositions by Bach, Busoni, Schubert, Chopin, Brahms, Bartok, Ravel, Debussy and Liszt.

Godes brought a "living room atmosphere" to the concert with his informal chats between selections about the works themselves and his experiences as a concert pianist, yet demonstrating at the same time the musicianship and interpretation that have won him the accolades of the critics and the hearts of his listeners.

After the hour-and-a-half concert Godes was applauded back to play "Melody" by Gluck; "Little Elves," Liszt; "Polka," Shostakovich; and "Clair De Lune" by Debussy.

Next Concert April 26
"It is uncanny how a man can make an instrument convey so much feeling and emotion to his listeners," was a comment overheard at the concert.

Godes demonstrated his dexterity by playing such works as Chopin's "Sonata in B minor, opus 58" and Bartok's "Allegro molto from Sonata (1926)." The finale of Chopin's work, in rondo form, is one of the touchstones of piano virtuosity; from beginning to end, it is one mad whirl of sound. Bartok, one of the foremost composers of the twentieth century, composed the work 30 years ago but in the words of Godes "it might have been written today" with its sharply pointed rhythms, strong and often primitive melodic and harmonic substance.

The third and last of the concert series will be the presentation of the Beaux Arts Trio, violin, cello and piano, April 26 at 8:30 p.m. in Christ Chapel.

TWO SENTENCED TO 30 DAYS IN COUNTY JAIL

Allen R. Wherley, York, was sent to jail for 30 days on a contempt of court charge by the Adams County court Monday afternoon and Charles W. Dicks, East Berlin R. 2, was sentenced to 30 days in jail and directed to pay $50 fine and the costs on a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicants.

Wherley, father of eight children, told the court he had become $782.55 in arrears on his support payments after he was laid off at a York plant. The hearing developed that he held the job with the York concern, a job with another company, earning more than $100 a week with the exception of the period when he was out of employment at the one establishment.

Mr. Dicks, who appeared before the court on a plea of guilty Monday morning, argued that he was innocent of one charge. He was told to return before the court in the afternoon after he had made up his mind whether he wanted to continue his guilty plea or stand trial. He returned in the afternoon to continue his plea.

Says U. S. Took Pay
Frank Motaka, Camp Hill, in arrears on a support order, told the court he had fallen into the arrears when the federal government took his pay check for several weeks to make up for back income taxes. He said he planned to obtain a second job and would pay "not less than $45 per week" until the arrearage is made up. His regular support payment is $30 per week. The court approved the plan.

The scheduled hearing on the desertion and non-support case against Earl M. Lehigh, who gave

FAIRFIELD BANK HOLDS ANNUAL DINNER MONDAY

The dinner was served by the ladies of Zion Lutheran Church to 100 in attendance.

Decorations for the dinner were on a Valentine theme with red and white carnations, white snapdragons and hearts and Valentine napkins and candles.

Attorney John A. MacPhail served as toastmaster. The invocation was given by the Rev. A. W. Geigley. George Sing was led by William Shultz accompanied at the piano by Miss Helen McCreaf.

President Speaks
Wesley Schaible, cashier of the bank, gave the address of welcome. Howard C. Diehl, president of the bank, introduced other directors: Mervin I. Weikert, J. B. Waddle, S. L. Allison, E. H. Newman, E. L. Sheads, Harold K. Deardorff, George C. Steinberger, and Luther M. Martin. Director J. E. Zimmerman was unable to be present for the dinner.

President Diehl also introduced Cashier Schaible; assistant cashier, Kenneth Sionaker, and bank attorney, Donald M. Swope.

Speaking of Washington and Lincoln and giving brief histories of their lives, Rev. Mr. Smith declared, "Say about them what you will, these two men, more than any others, inspired the confidence of their fellow man."

"In this, bankers should follow the precept of Lincoln and Washington. It is a banker's duty to inspire confidence in his integrity, and his judgment. Confidence is one of the greatest needs in the world today. Without it we can have no progress. Fairfield, I am sure, is one community that does have confidence in those in which it reposes leadership. The proof of that confidence is shown in the growth of the community over the last several years."

NATIONAL GUARD UNIT INSPECTED BY MAJ. HANNA

The Gettysburg National Guard unit, the Howitzer Company of the Second Battalion, 104th Armored Cavalry, was inspected Monday by Maj. William A. Hanna, inspector general's representative, Fort George G. Meade, Md., and qualified for a high rating.

In the afternoon an inspection was made of personnel articles, records and the company's administration. A check was made of the company's utilization of government vehicles and organizational equipment which is valued at over a million dollars.

In the evening Maj. Hanna, Col. George A. Thompson, York, regimental commander, and Lt. Col. Martin B. Bair, Camp Hill, Second Battalion commander, made an in-line inspection at the regularly scheduled two-hour company drill. At this formation the members of the unit performed the manual of arms and were questioned extensively on their company assignments.

Men, Instruction Examined
The men were then tested on all general military subjects which they receive on closely supervised unit training schedules throughout their enlistment. During the second hour of the evening inspection, the men were placed in seven separate sections, according to their company assigned positions, and the instruction given in these classes examined.

Maj. Hanna gave a critique at the close of the drill period and noted that the unit will receive a rating that compares with last year's superior rating.

During the next two weeks the unit will participate in the new recruiting drive. The February 22nd Muster Day. All interested men between the ages of 17 and 35 can get detailed enlistment information by calling Gettysburg 1170 or visiting the armory. The $400 salary increase for Gettysburg school teachers, proposed a month ago with the backing of the Teacher and Finance and Planning committees of the Joint School Board, failed to pass Monday evening on a roll call vote at a joint board meeting although a majority of the directors present voted "yes."

Outcome of the vote, which followed an hour of discussion, was delayed for another 50 minutes while a "temporary opinion" was secured by telephone from the office of Swope, Brown and Swope, legal counsel for the joint school district.

The opinion, confirmed this morning, held that the salary increase not only had to receive the favorable vote of a majority of the joint board but must carry a majority vote of two-thirds of the seven member boards. Attorney John A. MacPhail said today that under school law a majority of five of the member boards would have had to approve the measure to carry it.

Favor Raise, Lack Money
The vote Monday night was 16 to 15 in favor of the measure with four Franklin Twp. and two Freedom Twp. directors absent. Only three of the boards, Gettysburg, Freedom and Highland, had a majority of their directors voting for the raise.

Throughout the hour-long discussion that preceded the vote, no opposition was expressed to the proposal that salaries be raised. The only question was "Where is the money going to come from?"

Typical expressions were: "I think we all agree the teachers should have the increase but where are we going to get the money? We don't have it in the budget and we can't go to the taxpayers for more money on last year's taxes. I don't see how any director can conscientiously vote for the pay raise when we don't have the money."

Not In Budgets
Discussion developed the statement that only Gettysburg had made any provision in its budget for salary raises in the current year. Salaries are fixed and paid by the joint board.

After the temporary opinion had been received ruling that the salary raise had been defeated, one director proposed that the board vote on (Continued On Page 12)

DR. DUCK TELLS ROTARY CLUB ABOUT READING

Reading skills can be improved and many industries have set up special courses in reading for executives and employees, Dr. William O. Duck, of the faculty of Gettysburg College, told the local Rotary club at its meeting Monday evening at the YWCA.

Much of the instruction for adults is based on the need to read and comprehend business articles, letters, periodicals, etc., more quickly, he said. "The eye can be trained to read more quickly. There is equipment, such as we have at the college, which forces the eye to move more swiftly than it had been accustomed, and thus increase the rate of speed. And there are techniques that can be taught to permit quicker reading, so that more work can be done."

"Again, let it be said that such reading is for information, and not for pleasure. There are all kinds of reading, and we should all do various kinds of reading. We should be able to skim quickly over a letter, or a report to get the gist of it quickly. We should also be able to read for the beauty of the language employed. We should be able to read, almost word for word, to get the fullest meaning out of special articles, directions, and similar information. And the rate of speed would vary (Continued On Page 2) with each type of reading. We should also read critically, reading and at the same time putting what we are gaining from the reading into relationship with what we already know. Critical reading is a very good habit around election time.

Reading No Better Or Worse
"There has been much said about reading of late. There have been those who claim that our schools are not teaching our children to read, and those who claim that today's school children read better than any prior generation. I won't enter into the argument except to note that in my day only the best students went to school. The poorer ones dropped out about the fourth grade. Today all of the children are in school. I might also note a custom in my father's day. He went to school for only three years, five months a year.

"In schools where there have been kept files of tests and results back 40 or 50 years ago. The same tests were given today's students and the youngsters of today get better marks in the same tests than did the average 40 or 50 years ago. The former generation was better in oral reading, however, because that was the custom of those days—to read orally. Today's children had better results in silent reading and comprehension, because that is the custom today—to read silently in school. I don't think anyone can say that today's children read better than the former generations or vice versa, because we cannot have any facts to prove it either way."

Dr. Duck was introduced by Dr. James Oyler, chairman of the magazine committee of Rotary. President Philip M. Jones presided with 53 present.

COUNTY DRIVER
IN FATAL MISHAP

John S. Knepper, 61, York, formerly of Waynesboro, was killed instantly at 2 a.m. Saturday when he was struck by a car while crossing Lincoln Highway just west of Thomasville, near the York airport.

Police said positive identification of Knepper's body was not made until daylight when his car was located a quarter mile away on a side road off Lincoln Highway.

"Sixes Gas" to low pressure gas users.

Asked whether he would cease handling gas accounts he replied that as an employee he would have to do what his employer instructed him to do.

The Rural Gas Co. held that Adams had refused to turn over to them the list of customers "owned" by the company. Adams said that when he was asked he had to go out of town on business but hoped to be back by noon and would give the list to him then. The representative never came back for the list, he said. The list was turned over to the company's attorneys at the hearing Monday.

Secured Sixes Contract
Wilmer M. Beverage, Williamsport, representative of Rural Gas, said he had talked to Adams about his "selling" the route he operated, "when it became clear he wasn't going to make it" in his own business. He said that had secured Sixes' signature to contract to handle Rural Gas here, but that in both cases it was understood that all actions were dependent upon final approval by the company. He said he also made the contract with the Williamsport Store.

He said he had called Adams about the list of customers "owned" by the company three times. The last time, he said, Adams asked him to stop at the store about noon to pick them up. He said he went to the store earlier than that, found Adams not in, and had not returned.

Hanover Woman Is Injured In Accident
Mrs. Katie S. Forry, 76, Hanover, suffered a laceration of the wrist when a car operated by her husband, Isaiah J. Forry, 76, Hanover, and an auto operated by Raymond J. Smith, 19, Hanover, collided two miles west of McSherrystown on the Bonneauville Rd. Sunday at 8:25 a.m.

State police, who investigated, said Mrs. Forry was treated by her family physician. The officers estimated damage to total $300 and said the crash occurred when Forry, going west on Route 116, attempted a left hand turn into a legislative route and his car and the east bound auto of Smith collided.

BOB MURPHY,
23, FIGHTING
FOR 15 YEARS

By BOB HOOBING

BOSTON (AP) — Bobby Murphy, boxing's rookie of 1955, rests his ring future on big, powerful hands and a serious dedication to work. Murphy was selected as the best newcomer of the past year by compiling a record of 14 straight victories including 10 knockouts before drawing with veteran Chico Vejar.

The 23-year old blond bomber started fighting in park department bouts as a boy.

"Once I showed an interest in boxing my father did it all — he showed me how," says young Murphy.

Cornelius (Les) Murphy was a great local welterweight in his day under the name Gus Murphy. He met former middleweight king Al McCoy in a 1909 no-decision fight. Les Murphy now is a Boston Public Works Department employee.

Gloves At 8

"Yes, I brought my boy up to be a fighter," admits Les Murphy. "I got him a pair of boxing gloves when he was 7 or 8 years old. I showed him how to use his hands. We used to box together in the living room nights after supper.

"Lots of people tell me I was wrong to have brought my boy up to be a fighter. But I don't think so. I've brought up a family of 10 children. Bobby is the only one who ever wanted to be a fighter, and knowing he always had that in the back of his mind ever since he was a kid, I've tried to give him all of the knowledge he'll need to be great.

Power In Hands

"He always had big hands and wrists. There's where he gets his power."

Bobby has been married three years and has two children. He fought about 150 bouts as an amateur and has held the New England A.U. lightweight and welterweight titles.

Bobby is managed and trained by his father and Nuno Cam. He runs an average of three miles every day and boxes 4 or 5 rounds daily while preparing for a fight.

Packs Wallop

Murphy's chief weapons are his determination and a lethal punch. He is a boy who can hit but also can be hit. He's working industriously to improve his defense.

Murphy, who has come far in a few months but still has a long way to go, is the latest in the line of Irish fighters to come out of Boston with a meteoric start. Bob Murphy and his handlers hope the ending to his story will be happier ringwise than for Irish Bob Murphy (no relation) and Tommy Collins, who fell as quickly as they had risen.

BALTIMORE TURNOVER

BALTIMORE (AP) — Forty-two players were on Baltimore's roster last November 29. The team finished 1955 with only six of them. Those retained by Manager Paul Richards are Hal Smith, Gus Triandos, Cal Abrams, Chuck Diering, Willie Miranda and Ray Moore. Richards was so satisfied with Triandos that on August 6 he signed him to a 1956 contract.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

A Good Man Gone: Rev. Dr. Milton Valentine Passes Away at His Home on Springs Avenue After a Week's Illness — During the past week the hand of death has removed from us a gentleman whom all Gettysburg delighted to honor. A man who has few equals in this vicinity as a citizen, an educator, a writer and a theologian. The departed to whom we pay this last just tribute is Rev. Milton Valentine, D. D., LL.D., whose noble life ended last Tuesday night about mid-night, from the effects of a stroke of paralysis, after a week's illness.

The life of this venerable educator is an open book. His many good deeds, charitable acts and public utterances, have many times during his noble career been alluded to in the columns of this paper by the different editors who knew him to be a man of exceptional merit and who towered above most people of his days.

Only a short period has elapsed since the deceased and his beloved wife celebrated their golden wedding. Beside his wife, who was Margaret G. Galt, all of the four children are living. They are: Dr. Sterling Valentine, superintendent of the great iron plant at Dunbar; Rev. Dr. Milton H. Valentine, editor of the Lutheran Observer; Mrs. Rev. Edgar Miller, whose husband is pastor of the Lutheran church at Columbia, and Mrs. Heavy Siegrist, whose husband is treasurer of the Cornwall and Lebanon Railroad.

In 1866 he was called to the Seminary as Professor of Ecclesiastical History and Church Policy and continued in this capacity for sixteen years, resigning in 1884 to accept the presidency of the Seminary, which he held until May, 1903.

Council Meeting: The February meeting of Town Council was held Tuesday evening, all members being present except President Plank. In his absence Mr. Wisotzky acted as chairman.

The highway committee reported the pavement in front of Hanover Produce property on Carlisle street in need of repairs and that stone had been hauled on streets at points.

Councilman Hammond, of the Ordinance Committee, presented an ordinance to open and lay out Hanover street to the width of 66 feet. After cost of widening the street, and Messrs. Hammond, Culp and Oyster were named as a committee.

The ordinance to open College street and extend Lincoln street were then finally adopted, all releases for the land having been secured.

The report of the Burgess was then read, showing the collection of $36.50 fees as follows: Two Basket ball licenses $2.00; Y.M.C.A. Lecture50; Mrs. Wilson, building permit50; Sewer permits, $34.50; total, $36.50.

Wedding Bells: Boyer-Raffensperger—February 8, a beautiful wedding took place at the home of Mrs. Lizzie Raffensperger, Arendtsville, when her only daughter, Miss Mabel G., was given in marriage to George E. Boyer, of the firm of Boyer & Brother. Promptly at the appointed hour, 7 p.m., the happy couple appeared in the parlor, where the ceremony was performed by their pastor, Rev. David T. Koser.

After hearty congratulations by the guests present, all were invited to another apartment where refreshments were beautifully served. Mr. and Mrs. Boyer took the 9 p.m. train for Philadelphia and New York, purposing to remain eight or ten days.

The bridal presents were many, costly and useful. All united in wishing these popular young people a happy voyage through life.

Double Wedding In Buchanan Valley: A double wedding was celebrated by a nuptial Mass in St. Ignatius Church, Buchanan Valley, on Tuesday, January 30th.

The contracting parties were George Irwin and Miss Gertrude Kimpke, and Allen Kane and Miss Laura Kimpke, daughters of Mr.

Today's Talk

KEEP REACHING

Even before a baby begins to talk, it keeps reaching. Anything small, within its radius, those little hands reach for! This fact reminds me of a line, by Browning, where he said: "A man's reach should exceed his grasp, or what's Heaven for?"

Aspiration is something that is born within us all. In the introduction to one of my books, the late William Allen White wrote this: "The restless, unconquerable aspiration that is in the heart of all Americans is one thing that has abolished caste and broken class lines in America and thus has distinguished us from every other race or people on the globe." The young boy wants to be an engineer, a baseball player, a policeman, or a doctor "like Dad." The picture ahead is ever before us. We want to go further than our fathers. The artist, or writer, is forever thinking of the time when he will produce his master piece. Aspiration is the fire that keeps us thinking ahead, seeing ahead and getting ahead.

In a fruit tree the best fruit is usually highest. We have to reach for it. It's the same in life. If we want more we have to reach for it. In the game of tennis you have to reach for the difficult shots. In basketball the tallest players are at a premium. Their reach counts. The influence of us all keeps spreading, reaching out to more and more people. We never know how far that influence reaches. Never should we fail to reach for the things we want most, or which we imagine will return to us the greatest joy and satisfaction. "The machinery that keeps reaching deep into the ground for oil, or for precious substances, becomes man's ally in faith. Too many have stopped reaching only to have others dig deeper and win out! Never lose faith. Keep reaching!"

Just Folks

VALENTINE
"I love you" finest English phrase
That's penned or spoken,
And this the happiest of days
For speech or token.

What though to choose your valentine
You, pondering tarry,
"I love you" is the fairest line
That it can carry.

Although with many words to cheer
Our tongue is cluttered,
"I love you" best delights the ear
When it is uttered.

Who seeks the perfect valentine,
Finds it and takes it,
Discovers that this simple line:
"I love you" makes it.

BIPARTISAN TAX PROGRAM FACES UNKNOWN FUTURE

HARRISBURG (AP)—The House's bipartisan sales-income tax program went into an uncertain future Monday with a prospect of a week of behind-the-scenes maneuvering. Both the Republican and Democratic leadership agreed to wait a week for the dust to settle on the on-again, off-again 360 million dollar tax package before taking it up again.

The compromise program blew up spectacularly last week when Republicans withdrew their support, claiming Gov. Leader refused to promise he would sign the three bills should they reach his desk.

Leader Gives "OK"
The governor, however, a day later sought to revive the package by telling a specially called news conference he would sign the three measures "as a partial program" to meet the state's financial needs.

House Democratic Leader Reading said the governor's statement met the GOP conditions but House Republican Leader Smith wasn't satisfied.

"Now that the governor has changed his stand, how can we be sure he won't change it again?" Smith asked.

Caucus Next Week
Smith added a caucus of the Republican House members would be called the week of Feb. 20 on the compromise tax program.

"We won't know what position the Republican caucus will take on the tax bills now," Smith said.

Reading also said that no effort would be made this week to take up the tax package, adding "a lot of work" will be necessary before that may be done.

Must Consult Leadership
He said he "hoped" something could be done next week and that he used the word "hope" because he has yet to consult the Republican leadership on the next step.

Primarily, the leaders put off bringing the 14-month old tax deadlock to a head this week, because only token sessions are in prospect, with a limited membership attending.

The Senate, with the tax situation still boiling in the House, called a brief session for this afternoon. The House is in recess until Tuesday.

Lauds Leader's Action
A meeting of the eight-member bipartisan tax commission, which set up the sales-income tax compromise may be called tomorrow to go into the situation.

Speaker Andrews and Reading said Gov. Leader showed "great courage" in offering to sign the House package a s partial program," they said it opened the way for early reconsideration of the package.

"We hope," they said in a week-end statement, "the governor's decision will inspire Senate Republicans to put aside political considerations and pass promptly a complete and adequate tax program."

Foresee Uphill Battle
"We believe this crisis has reached a point where it must rise above strict party lines and be resolved in the light of what is best for Pennsylvania and its people."

Neither Reading nor Smith would commit themselves on what will happen should the bills be called up for a vote again. But high-placed sources speculated they would have an uphill battle to recoup the voting strength the package had last Thursday.

Wants Affection But Gets His Pocketbook

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—A woman entered Dr. Linus West's office and told him she wanted her teeth pulled. The dentist said he didn't extract teeth but would recommend a colleague who did.

Then, he told police, she threw her arms around him and said, "What I really need is affection."

Dr. West, who is 75, disengaged himself and told her, "I'm afraid I'm not interested." He gave her his colleague's name and she left.

A few minutes later he found his wallet, containing $160, was gone.

Dr. West said the woman was about 40. He couldn't give a detailed description of her except that she had six teeth in her upper jaw and eight in her lower.

AFL-CIO READY TO CRACK DOWN ON FRAUD CASES

By NORMAN WALKER

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Union leaders reported today the AFL-CIO is getting ready to crack down on a series of alleged frauds in handling multimillion-dollar union welfare funds.

The move is planned as the first step in carrying out an aim of the newly merged AFL-CIO to clean unions of racketeering and corruption.

A five-man Ethical Practices Committee recommended that the AFL-CIO Executive Council give it authority to proceed with hearings in four cases involving affiliated unions. It was intimated that findings against these unions could lead to their expulsion from the AFL-CIO.

Million Dollar Shortage

A Senate Labor subcommittee headed by Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) already has turned up considerable data in these cases. One case involved an alleged shortage of nearly a million dollars in insurance funds of the Laundry Workers International Union.

Another case involves a local, the leader of which recently testified before the Douglas committee accompanied by two bodyguards. Members of the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee said privately they were determined to root out fraud in handling union welfare funds. One said, "All of us are prepared to quit if the Executive Council doesn't go along with us and take a firm stand."

AFL-CIO officials also were reported dissatisfied with an administration bill recently introduced in Congress to require periodic financial reports of all types of welfare funds to be filed with the Labor Department.

MANY VIOLATE SPEED LIMIT ON PRIMARY ROADS

HARRISBURG (AP)—A speed survey which showed that 20 per cent of all passenger cars exceed Pennsylvania's 50 mile an hour speed limit on primary roads was analyzed by the State Highways Department today.

Secretary of Highways Joseph J. Lawler said the survey, conducted at 30 points through the state, also revealed that 13.8 per cent of all passenger cars exceed the 50 mile limit on the interstate highway system.

The secretary said on Sunday the study would determine speed distribution, average speeds and speed trends on the commonwealth's roads and was designed to permit "possible adoption of more equitable speed limits on all highways systems."

Results of the survey, Lawler said, showed that only 3.6 per cent of all private motorists drove faster than 55 miles an hour on the interstate routes and 8.1 per cent traveled faster than 50 on secondary roads.

Used Six Stations

On three routes posted for 60 m.p.h., only 3.2 per cent of all passenger cars exceeded the legal limit, the survey revealed.

Six stations selected for last summer's study were located on interstate routes, 18 on the primary state highway system and six on secondary roads with a bituminous surface and carrying more than 100 vehicles daily.

Field work was done from July 20 to Sept. 28 with all observations made on "normal" weekdays and during daylight hours. A simplified radar device installed in the trunk compartment of an automobile was used in determining speeds, Lawler said.

The secretary listed the results of the survey as:

Other Results

On the interstate system:
In the three 60 m.p.h., four-lane sections, the average speed for passenger cars was 50, trucks 43.8, and buses 41.7.

Four-lane divided highways with a 50 m.p.h. limit—cars 44.1, trucks 40.6, buses 40.1.
Three-lane 50 m.p.h. limit—cars 45.7, trucks 43.3, buses 44.4.

On the primary system:
Four-lane divided highways—cars 46, trucks 44.1, buses 47.7, buses 41.
Three-lane—cars 46.7, trucks 42.7, Two-lane—cars 44.1, trucks 42.3, buses 44.6.

On the secondary system:
Two-lane—cars 40, trucks 37.7, buses 39.1.

Lawler said the survey included observations on 28,762 vehicles including 21,317 passenger cars, 7,317 trucks and 128 buses. The heaviest traffic, he added, was on the primary system with 12,024 cars, 4,380 trucks and 78 buses checked.

The U.S. reduced 46 million board feet of lumber in 1956, but only 37.1 million board feet in 1954 although the population was 80 per cent greater.

GHS Entertains Waynesboro Here Tonight; Towson Will Invade Mount For Loop Game

This evening the Gettysburg High School cagers, 6-10, will have the opportunity to avenge a surprise first half defeat in the South Penn Basketball League when they entertain Harry Pure's Waynesboro outfit on the local floor.

Waynesboro handed the Warriors a thorough 69-44 drubbing on its home court in a mild upset and comes here confident of repeating that triumph.

The teams will also be scrapping to escape the cellar, being tied with identical 0-3 marks.

Top performer for Indians during the campaign has been Allie Kohler who is sixth in the individual scoring race with 160 points. Other key players for Waynesboro include Carroll Hartle and Clair Eden.

Prelim At 6:45

The reserve teams will meet at 6:45. The local jayvees also lost at Waynesboro 43-31.

Headlining the South Penn program tonight will be the Chambersburg-Hanover game on the latter's floor. The Nighthawks are determined to avenge a 47-46 loss at Chambersburg. The Trojans, tied with Carlisle and Middletown for first place in the second half race, can ill afford a setback.

In other league games unbeaten Middletown, first half champs, plays at Mechanicsburg, while once-beaten Carlisle is at Hershey. Gettysburg Junior High travels to Waynesboro for a twin bill this evening.

Two Title Games

Titles in the varsity and junior varsity divisions of the Adams County League will undoubtedly be decided tonight.

Bolling Springs, 21-3 overall and unbeaten in the league, will probably sew up its fourth straight championship at York Springs. The Springers are 2-0 against all opposition and have lost 12 straight in league play.

The jayvee title is certain to be determined when Biglerville plays at Newville. The teams are tied for the lead with 5-1 records. Tonight's games conclude the jayvee schedule.

Completing this evening's schedule in the league will be East Berlin at New Oxford, and Littlestown at Fairfield.

Concluding games of the season will be played as follows Friday: York Springs at New Oxford, Bolling Springs at East Berlin, Littlestown at Biglerville, and Fairfield at Newville. The four top teams in the final standing will take part in the annual league Shaughnessy playoffs on the Gettysburg College floor February 23 and 27.

Delone Away

Delone Catholic, 7-12, travels to Shippensburg this evening, seeking revenge for a 72-61 loss at McSherrystown last week.

In a junior high game tonight, Washington Township will be at Biglerville, the first game starting at 6:30 o'clock.

Mt. St. Mary's College plays the first of two home games this week by entertaining Towson at Emmitsburg tonight in a Mason-Dixon Conference game.

All conference games are "musts" for the Mountaineers if they hope to retain their title. They are now in second place with an 8-1 mark, Loyola leading the group with a 10-0 log. The Mount plays at Loyola Saturday evening. A jayvee game will precede the varsity tilt tonight at 6:45.

Fairleigh-Dickinson of Rutherford, N. J., travels to Emmitsburg Thursday evening. The preliminary at 6:45 will pit the Mount from against Mt. St. Joseph's of Baltimore.

BETTER BOWLING

This is the first of five stories on BETTER BOWLING written especially for AP Newsfeatures by Steve Nagy, Bowler of the Year.

By STEVE NAGY

You will be taking the first step to better bowling when you get your own personal equipment fitted exactly for you. It's hard to control a ball that doesn't fit well. When you roll the same ball every time, you can analyze your game and correct your mistakes.

With a custom-fitted ball, the finger-holes are spaced properly and your fingers fit the holes comfortably. And, don't forget, the thumb often swells when you're bowling so get the thumb-hole nice and loose. Most bowling alleys have a Brunsonometer to measure the hand for a perfect fit.

No bowler can do his best without regulation bowling shoes because proper footwork is mighty important to your game. A right hander's shoes have a rubber sole on the right shoe for good gripping, and leather on the left for the slide. Of course, it's just the opposite for left handers.

Then buy a bag in which to keep your ball and shoes. Then you'll be ready to go when a buddy says, "Let's bowl!"

DOGS

by Farley Manning

CANINE CRIMINALS

Some researchers of canine history find a raffish pleasure in the discovery that not all dogs' usefulness to their owners has been legal. Finding a canine smuggler or a fighting four-footed member of a pirate crew recorded in some old journal adds a dash of romance to the scholar's labors.

Many instances were noted during the American Civil War of dogs belonging to Confederate agents slipping messages or contraband materials through the Union lines to the Southern side. These dogs' loyalty to their masters' training was called "treason" by the Federals.

Newfoundland and Breton fishermen who mixed a little smuggling with their legitimate business a century or so ago are said often to have carried some strong swimming "watchdogs" as members of the crew. These could, and did, carry surprising cargoes of brandy, lace, silk or such valuables to human confederates on some lone British, French, or American shore.

Similarly, some Great Pyrenees dogs are reported to have saved their masters the payment of unwelcome customs duties along the Spanish-French frontiers to this day; and stories are common along this country's Canadian and Mexican borders of dogs that are adept in such escapades.

In England special strains of dogs were developed by poachers to assist in their illegal nocturnal search for game. Such dogs have a professional name: "lurcher." At least two, now thoroughly respectable terrier breeds—the Airedale and the Bedlington—have some lurcher activity in the hazy history of their earliest days, according to British writers.

At last, convinced that only trained dogs could defeat trained dog criminals, British gamekeepers developed a breed of their own which proved successful against poachers. First called the "Gamekeeper's Night-dog," it is now known as the Bull-Mastiff and is being seen in increasing numbers in the polite society of American dog shows.

PEN-MAR WILL OPEN APRIL 29

Sunday, April 29, was set as the opening date of the Pen-Mar Baseball League at a meeting of team representatives Sunday afternoon at the Emmitsburg VFW Home.

It was announced the schedule of games will be reversed from that of last year.

A complete set of new bylaws was adopted and umpires of the Adams County Umpires Association were again designated for the coming season. Forfeits were posted by all teams.

George Millen, Union Bridge, vice president, presided in the absence of President Guy McGlaughlin, Emmitsburg.

Another meeting has been called for Sunday, March 25, at the same place.

SCIENTIFIC DOG FEEDING

During the last 25 years the need for the by guess and by gosh of dog feeding has disappeared. The requirements of dogs for various types of food have been accurately determined at dog nutrition research centers in universities and industrial research laboratories where every detail of the dog's diet is considered. In such laboratories earlier research with white rats, mice, hamsters and guinea pigs is used in conjunction with the feeding of dogs and has speeded up the attainment of balanced diets. As a result of this research, most dogs today can enjoy nutritious palatable foods that would have been the envy of their "forefathers."

Writing in "Dogs In Canada," one of the world's really outstanding publications in the field, Dr. H. E. Robinson, director of laboratories of Swift and Company of Chicago, has called attention to the tremendous strides that have been made.

"Diet research which has led to the modern dog foods has gone through several phases. Originally, emphasis was placed upon vitamins; then proteins, minerals, carbohydrates and fats were investigated thoroughly. During this time several 'panacea' foods — special foods that were going to give the dog just what he needed — appeared and disappeared owing to the fact that their formulation had not been scientifically attained.

"Nutrients that are important for proper dog nutrition are present in the correct proportions in the modern 'balanced' dog food. Proof that these balanced diets are superior comes through life-cycle testing. Thus, dogs will grow to maturity, reproduce, nourish their

Players Learn More In Major Leagues

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Cleveland catcher Hank Foles says a baseball player learns more in the major leagues than in the minors.

"In the minors, you sit around after the game talking about what movies you've seen or dates and all," Foles explains. "In the big leagues, you talk about baseball. I learned a lot that way."

"You take somebody like Jim Hegan. You listen to him a while, and you'll know how your pitcher should throw to batters on the other teams. It's not like the old days. If you want to find out how to do something, you talk it over with somebody who's been on the team a while. He'll tell you."

Foles is a Norfolk native, having starred in football, baseball and track at Granby High School.

Bird Causes Man Pain, Suffering

GREENVILLE, S. C. (AP) — A man says a bird gave him a cold.

He was a passenger on a bus whose windshield was broken when a guinea hen crashed through.

He said the glass or the hen struck him and caused "great pain and suffering." He also alleged he got a severe cold from drafts through the windshield.

He sued the bus company for $2,500.

U. S. WEATHER BALLOON NOW OVER SIBERIA

TOKYO (AP)—The U. S. Navy said today one of its weather balloons launched from Japan for the United States was sending radio data today from over Soviet Siberia.

The Navy said "wild and unpredictable" winds over the Aleutian Islands Monday night reversed the balloon's course and sent it over Soviet territory. It was moving at 100 m.p.h. Navy experts were tracking it by its automatic radio transmissions.

The Russians have protested vigorously in recent days about American weather balloons over their territory. These balloons had been launched from Europe.

Usually Head East
The U. S. Air Force suspended launchings of weather balloons from Europe. But since all balloons sent up from Japan had previously been borne eastward—the prevailing direction of the upper-level jet stream—the program was continued from Japan.

The Navy reported the big plastic bag—40 feet in diameter—was 30,000 feet above Siberia. Lt. Cmdr. M. Lee Lewis, in charge of the weather balloon program at Oppama, near Tokyo, said the runway's radio was transmitting "valuable" weather information, but "not what we wanted."

Lewis explained that the weather map for Siberia "has hitherto been a blank to countries outside the Iron Curtain."

Eighteen states have passed right-to-work laws. While they differ in detail, in broad principle they are all the same. They guarantee that a man has a right to join or not to join a labor union or any other legitimate private organization, and still get and keep a job. In short, they protect him against coercion by either the employer or the union.

One argument against laws is that they hurt the economy generally. But a survey made of the 12 states which have had the laws since 1947, and so have had a chance to see just what results have been, belies that absolutely. These states have matched or outstripped national gains in such important barometers of economic health as non-farm employment, business in operation, population growth, per capita earnings, retail sales, new construction and bank savings accounts. In some cases the differences are spectacular—business and personal savings, for example, increased 34 per cent more in the right-to-work states than in the others.

No one claims that the laws alone are the reason for such improvement. But the facts certainly prove that the laws in no way hurt workers or others. Going beyond the statistics, the truth is that the right to work is as fundamental as religious freedom and the right of free speech, free assembly and free press. Where the right to work does not exist, there is no real freedom.

India produced 65 million tons of food grains in 1955, an increase of about 30 per cent since 1951.

FIND MISSING BODY

MARCUS HOOK, Pa. (AP)—The body of a 15-year-old boy from nearby Lester, Pa., was recovered from the Delaware River yesterday at the Sinclair Refining Co. The boy, Robert Achey, had been missing since Christmas Day.

Robert had gone out on the Delaware from Darby Creek Christmas morning in his eight-foot skiff with an outboard motor. The skiff, with the motor gone, was found later in a cove on the New Jersey side of the river. His clothes were found in a neat pile on the south end of Tinicum Island in the Delaware.

The population of the United States, now in excess of 165 million, has doubled since 1900.

WED 71 YEARS, SAYS KINDNESS THEIR FORMULA

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A 93-year-old couple married on St. Valentine's Day 71 years ago today topped off a gay anniversary party by passing along this happy marriage formula which "can't miss":

"Always be kind and considerate, and never, never try to be the boss."

In the words of Abner and Rebecca Braude, who confess they still have their romantic moments, that's about all the secret there is to domestic happiness.

"Firm But Not Bossy"

"Of course," said Mrs. Braude in an interview, "there are times when I seem to do all the talking, but I never give Abner the impression that I'm bossy."

"You go ahead, Ma," Abner put in. "You've got the gift of gab better than I have. Just keep talking. As for your being bossy, let's say that you can be firm but never bossy."

"Guess I don't need a second invitation to keep talking," Mrs. Braude went on with a hearty laugh, "especially after that great big box of candy Abner got for me." And she showed it off, a whooper of a Valentine gift, bright red and heart-shaped, naturally, and all bound up with ribbons and bows.

Play Fair And Share

"What I mean," Mrs. Braude resumed, "is that a man and wife can make a go of it for as long as you care to say, without fear of serious squabbles or getting on each other's nerves more than the usual little bit, if they'll just play fair, have no secrets and share the bad with the good."

Abner said those were his sentiments too, and then the talk got on to children and "the joy of a good-sized family."

Five Children

"We've got five children, seven grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren," Braude said proudly.

The Braudes came to this country from Germany two years after their marriage. They settled first in Shamokin, Pa., later moving to Philadelphia, where Braude dealt in real estate, and later became a clothing manufacturer. For a time after his retirement, the two lived in Atlantic City. They have been living for two years at a rest haven for convalescents in suburban Broomall.

DIVORCEE, 28, NOT SORRY SHE KILLED MAN, 59

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Police quoted an attractive young divorcee accused of killing Walter A. Siebert, prominent St. Louis County politician, as saying that "he had it coming to him and I'm no sorry."

Investigators said Mrs. June Jay Milton, 28, used these words in a statement admitting she shot the 59-year-old widower in the back, then returned the next day to burn the body.

Mrs. Milton said the shooting climaxed an argument in which he accused her of dating other men, police said. Authorities reported her account further stated that Siebert had threatened her with a gun, the weapon she later used in the killing.

Admits Setting Fire

Mrs. Milton, twice married and mother of a 5-year-old boy, has been charged with first-degree murder.

Siebert was chief supervisor of the county highway department and a member of the county Republican committee. He was found shot to death yesterday in his burning home in suburban Webster Groves.

Prosecuting Atty. Edward W. Garnholz said the woman told authorities she shot Siebert about 2 a.m. Sunday and set fire to the home early the following day "to destroy the evidence."

Baby Chokes To Death On Candy

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Highway crashes took at least 10 lives in Pennsylvania over the weekend. A little girl choked to death on a piece of candy, an elderly man burned to death and another man was electrocuted, bringing the death toll to 13 since Friday night.

Jacqueline Spicer, 18 months, died of asphyxiation caused by a gum drop stuck in her throat as her father, James, drove frantically with the child to a Lancaster hospital for aid Sunday. The Spicer family lives in Mt. Joy, about 10 miles from Lancaster.

Robert Strauss, 74, burned to death in his cottage in Croydon, destroyed by fire Sunday. Strauss was alone.

Michael Walke, 26, of St. Clair, was killed Saturday when electricity from a 12,000-volt power line jumped into a Reading railroad freight car full of steel that he was helping unload at a roundhouse at Gordon. Another worker was burned seriously.

YOUNG BOXER FOLLOWING IN SIRE'S STEPS

NEW YORK (AP)—Ch. Baroque of Quality Hill, a beautiful 2-year-old boxer, has a long way to go to match her pappy's record and, strange to say, she might do just that.

Baroque is a daughter of the great Ch. Bony Away of Sirrah Crest, who has been retired to stud after winning a staggering total of 121 best-in-shows, an all-time record.

At the moment, Baroque has 21 bests and already has zipped through four this year, which is par for any doggie course. Last night, she won the boxer breed in the Westminster Kennel Club show, the first step toward the most coveted prize in the canine world. She still must win the difficult working group in order to qualify for the six-dog final tonight.

Former Winners

Baroque is owned by Mr. and Mrs. John P. Wagner of Chicago. Both of last year's group winners who returned for another shot at the crown came through with ease in their respective breeds.

They were Ch. Star Twilight of Ch. Mor., a Yorkshire terrier owned by Mrs. L. S. Gordon, Jr., and Janet E. Bennett of Glen View, Ill., the 1955 toy victor, and Ch. Rock Hill Brigade a Sealyham terrier entered by Mrs. Robert B. Choate of Danvers, Mass., the terrier king.

HOLD PROBE AT STATE HOSPITAL; EXAMINE RULES

HARRISBURG (AP)—A six-man Senate investigating committee was ready today to begin an examination of conditions at Farview State Hospital for the Criminally Insane.

The Senate last night received and immediately approved a resolution calling for the third legislative investigation of a state institution his session. Shortly afterward, he committee was appointed.

The resolution calls specifically for a probe of security regulations at the Wayne County institution to remedy what the proposal's sponsor, Sen. McMenamin (D-Lackawanna), called "the escaping of dangerous criminal insane inmates."

Report 27 Escapees

He told the Senate that 27 inmates escaped from Farview since last July.

McMenamin, who was also appointed a member of the committee, said he hoped the group could conduct "on-the-spot" investigations at the hospital, adding: "I hope we can get together and begin the actual investigation by the end of next week."

FEDERAL GRAND JURY OPENING PROBE OF $2,500

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal grand jury embarks today on an investigation of a $2,500 campaign donation rejected by Sen. Francis Case (R-SD) during Senate debate on the natural gas bill.

The grand jury summoned before it John M. Neff, Lexington, Neb., and Elmer Patman, Austin, Tex., both of whom testified before a special Senate committee which wound up public hearings on the incident yesterday.

Neff and Patman are lawyers for the Superior Oil Co. of California. The Senate committee was told that Superior's president, Howard R. Keck, furnished the $2,500 Neff left in Sioux Falls, S.D., as a contribution to Case's campaign. Neff and Patman, who forwarded the money to him, swore that no conditions were attached.

Bill Before Ike

Both said, however, they would not have been interested in contributing to Case's campaign if they had known he was going to vote against the bill to exempt natural gas producers from direct federal regulation.

The bill is now before President Eisenhower, who discussed it with his Cabinet yesterday but reached no decision.

Keck and Patman testified the $2,500 came from Keck's personal funds and was not offered in an attempt to influence Case's vote. Case has said he was originally inclined to favor the bill, but changed his mind because it appeared to him that someone thought big profits for oil companies would result if the bill became law.

Pressure Mounts

There was no word as to whether the grand jury's inquiry was confined to the Case incident or pore Taylor, are:

Sens. Scott (R-Carbon), Fleming (R-Allegheny), Madigan (R-Bradford), Lane (D-Washington) and DiSilvestro (D-Phila.).

Legislative probes were previously conducted at Laurelton State Village in Union County and the Pennsylvania Training School at Morgantown, Washington County.

Sen. Seyler, (D-York), who voted against last night's resolution, said the two earlier legislative investigations of state institutions showed "They did not get results to justify the expenditure."

No estimate of cost was given for the Farview investigation.

Wilson College Gets Scholarships

NEW YORK (AP)—Wilson College in Chambersburg, Pa., is one of six colleges and universities added to the 1956-57 scholarship list of Procter and Gamble Co.

The company announced the new listings yesterday. They make a total of 47 institutions of higher learning which will receive Procter and Gamble scholarships during the coming school year.

Other newcomers besides Wilson, a women's college, are Notre Dame and Southern Methodist, and these other women's colleges: Connecticut College, Hollins and Sweet Briar.

Each scholarship provides full tuition for four years plus an allowance for books, fees and supplies and an additional unrestricted grant of $600 to the college each year.

FAVOR CHANNEL PLAN

HARRISBURG (AP)—A proposal for Pennsylvania joining New Jersey and the federal government for improvement and maintenance of the Delaware River channel between Philadelphia and Trenton, N.J., had Senate committee approval today.

The House-passed measure, approved by Senate committee last night, would appropriate $50,000 for land and property damages incurred in the improvement of the channel.

The special committee was limited to the Case matter. But Sen. Bridges (R-NH), a member, told newsmen "pressure is building up from both sides" for a wider investigation.

RESEARCH STUDY VOID OF IDEAS ON COAL USAGE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Although the U.S. Bureau of Mines' anthracite research program has been in operation for five years it hasn't produced any ideas for wider use of hard coal, says Rep. Kirwan (D-Ohio).

Kirwan told bureau officials at a congressional hearing it's about time they came up with some suggestions. His statements were made in closed session, and were made public yesterday. He is chairman of the House Appropriations subcommittee on Interior Department funds.

Bureau spokesmen said, however, prospects are good for the use of anthracite in combination with coke in blast furnaces.

Conduct Negotiations

J. A. Corgan, chief of the bureau's Anthracite Division, said "negotiations are now in progress between a major steel company and anthracite producers for the conduct of tests in a blast furnace of commercial size."

Kirwan, who once worked in an anthracite mine himself, said only hard coal was used in blast furnaces up until 1875. He said it isn't used now because soft coal is more abundant in steel-making areas.

"You still have to come up with something in some other field, other than the blast furnace," Kirwan declared, adding:

Congress Industries

"The automobile every year gives you a dozen new things in the car, and we have only got one thing out of the anthracite program now in five years."

The bureau spokesmen said they plan to spend the same amount, $372,247, in the coming fiscal year as they did in the last. The anthracite research laboratory is located at Schuylkill Haven, Pa.

Dem Leaders Plan Strategic Tax Showdown Next Week

HARRISBURG (AP)—The House Democratic leadership today pushed for a new showdown next week—possibly Monday or Tuesday—on a 360 million dollar bipartisan income-sales tax package.

"There isn't enough time to fool around," said House Democratic Leader Readinger. "We've got to move fast."

The new target date came as a result of a meeting last night among Gov. Leader, Speaker Andrews (D-Cambria), Senate Democratic Leader Dent and Readinger. Republicans would have to agree to the date for the new showdown if it is to be given any chance for passage.

To Request Support
Their support was expected to be asked at a meeting during the day between Readinger and Andrews on one side and House GOP Leader Smith and Rep. Bower (R-Northumberland) on the other.

All four were members of the eight-man bipartisan group that drafted the tax compromise.

The compromise was shelved last Thursday when the House GOP withdrew its support on grounds Democrats failed to commit the governor to sign the package—rather than let it go into law by default.

Will Meet GOP Demand

The governor put the derelict compromise on the track again with a promise that he would meet the Republican demand. The GOP since then has been cool in making any new pledges it will back the compromise.

In another development, Dent pledged support of the Democratic minority to the tax package and challenged Senate Republicans to do the same.

"To delay any longer in deciding the tax issue may be fatal," he told the Senate yesterday. "I promise to give votes on the entire package no matter what it contains."

Urges Support

Dent urged those of "good will and courage" in the Republican majority to rise in their seats and announce their support of the tax program.

None did. Senate GOP Leader

Mahany explained to a newsman afterward:

"We can't commit ourselves on something that has not as yet reached us."

Refuse Bid

Senate Republicans also turned down a Democratic bid for senators to join in the House bipartisan compromise tax discussions. Numerous other joint House-Senate conferences, with and without Gov. Leader, failed to produce results during the 14-month long tax deadlock.

Sen. Lane (D-Washington) proposed that both sides of the Senate join the House bipartisan group so "we know where we stand" on the tax issue.

"It might work out in theory," Mahany said, "but I think the best thing we can do is stay out of it. I think the House should work out the best program it can without advice from us."

Taylor Non-Committal

Senate President pro tempore Taylor an outspoken opponent of any form of income tax, echoed Mahany's viewpoint in a separate interview:

"I'm not going to say anything until it gets over. You know the governor might change his mind again."

Sen. Schmidt (D-Allegheny) offered his vote for a 3 per cent sales tax—with no exemptions—as an answer to the commonwealth's tax deadlock.

"It's too serious at this time to think of exempting industries and companies," he told the Senate. "By passing the sales tax, the House will then know where the Senate stands."

Dent, in urging Senate support of the tax compromise now shelved in the House, said he felt he may have to face "an enraged electorate."

"But the needs of the commonwealth far transcend any of our personal problems," he declared.

The tax discussion in the Senate arose when Mahany appealed to the state's citizenry to "offer prayers in church next Sunday to aid us" in seeking a solution to the 13-month-old tax deadlock.

"Perhaps we should call on

REPUBLICAN RECORD NOTED BY VEEP NIXON

NEW YORK (AP)—Vice President Nixon claims a "magnificent record" for the first three years of "what all of us hope will be eight years of the Eisenhower administration."

Nixon told the National Republican Club in a Lincoln Day speech last night:

"Our Republican administration is now proving, for the first time in nearly 30 years, that we can have prosperity without war; full employment outside of uniform, and security with regimentation and controls."

Make "Great Advances"

Speaking at the club's 70th annual Lincoln Day Dinner, he said the greatest advances in the nation to end racial discrimination "since the emancipation proclamation itself" have been made during the Eisenhower administration.

Nixon's speech contained barbs for three Democratic presidential nominee possibilities—Adlai E. Stevenson, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee and Gov. Averell Harriman of New York.

As he arrived here by plane from Washington late yesterday, Nixon denied he ever had called former President Harry S. Truman a "traitor," as Truman had complained.

Denies Accusations

"I did not call Mr. Truman a traitor—absolutely not," Nixon told newsmen. Nor did he call the Democratic party "the party of treason" or question the loyalty of any of its members, Nixon added.

Up until the airport interview, Nixon had kept silent publicly on the political controversy stirred up by Truman's recent accusations that Nixon called him a traitor in 1952 campaign talks "all over the West." Leaders of the Repub-somebody more supreme than we are to help solve this problem," Mahany said.

Dent replied:

"If the Lord himself had come down here in the last 13 months, he would have had a hard time getting to the Republican caucus."

Nixon declined to speculate at his news conference on whether President Eisenhower will run again. He said, however, that "the optimism is higher now than at any other time."

At the Waldorf-Astoria dinner, Nixon received the National Republican Club's second annual award for "outstanding service to the nation." The award—a bronze head of Abraham Lincoln—was presented by former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, who won it last year.

Candidates Search

Nixon said Stevenson and Kefauver, both announced candidates, and Harriman, who says he is not an "active" candidate, are "three candidates in search of a crisis" in bidding for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Calling Stevenson the leading candidate, Nixon said he "lately shrinks at the suggestion that the U.S. may have found it necessary to be on the brink of war in order to keep the peace."

Nixon also said it begins to appear that Illinois, "which gave the nation Abraham Lincoln, the great rail-splitter of 1860, has produced in Adlai Stevenson the great rail-splitter of 1956," Nixon added.

"He says we are too strong and too weak, too firm and too flexible, too belligerent and too timid."

REDS' TIMING IS IMPROVING ON PROPAGANDA

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Russians must have a new public relations man. Every move packs a propaganda wallop. They waltz up to the United States as if to shake hands and then sock with a fast left cross.

Their timing is good, as the dates show. They've got this country wondering where the next punch is coming from.

But there's no mystery about their propaganda which has two aims: to shake loose this country's allies by trying to fill them with misgiving about American intentions; and to win over the people of Asia, Africa and the Middle East with the idea Russia is a big brother, the United States is the opposite.

Stole Headlines
Here are some dates:
Jan. 25. While Britain's Prime Minister Eden was on his way here to meet with President Eisenhower, an event bound to capture world headlines — Premier Bulganin sent Eisenhower a personal message.

Thereafter Eden's approaching visit had to share top headlines with the message. Secrecy surrounding it added to the interest. Russia didn't spoil the interest by revealing the contents.

Jan. 28. Eisenhower released both Bulganin's message and his own reply. Bulganin had proposed a 20-year friendship treaty. Eisenhower rejected the offer, suggesting Russia show its good intentions by deeds rather than words.

Another Maneuver
Jan. 29. The Soviet press headlined Bulganin's offer but didn't mention Eisenhower's reply. The Russians let the offer sink in, getting maximum mileage out of it, building up the hopes of people who didn't know Eisenhower's reply.

Jan. 30-Feb. 1. After three days of talks, Eisenhower and Eden issued a joint statement on what they had discussed and decided. It was vague. They stressed their wishes for peaceful settlements in the Middle East.

Another Diversion
They referred to a 1950 agreement they had with the French to stop a war in the Middle East, if it broke out by acting together inside or outside the United Nations. Did this mean they'd intervene troops? They didn't say. The Russians let this pass momentarily. They had other fish to fry. As if to divert world attention from the Eisenhower-Eden message of the day before, Bulganin did an extraordinary thing.

Feb. 2. He sent a second letter to Eisenhower, urging again a friendship treaty and offered the same kind of treaty to America's friends. He called on this country to show by deeds also that it wanted peace and pointed out the United States had surrounded Russia with air bases.

Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles decided to wait a while before rejecting this second offer, as they almost certainly will. They haven't answered yet.

Balloon Incident
Feb. 6. While the world was still pondering this second Soviet offer, the Russians accused the United States of sending balloons equipped with cameras and radios over Russia to do military spying.

This may have been meant to back up Bulganin's complaint the United States was hemming in Russia militarily. The Russians played this tune for days, even after the United States said it would try not to let it happen again although explaining the balloons were not aerial spies but were gathering only scientific information.

Feb. 13. Russia picked up what it had ignored before: the Eisenhower-Eden statement. It warned against use of American-British-French troops in the Middle East, put itself in the position of protecting the Arabs, and accused the West of being more interested in oil investments in the Middle East than in the people here.

DON'T BEEF THIS BULL
MONTAGUE, Mich. — Whitehall Metal Studios Inc. is taking particular pains with an order for a weather vane in the shape of a full-bodied bull which it received from President Eisenhower for his Gettysburg farm.

A note accompanying the order from the firm's York, Pa., representative said:
"Above all things be sure this particular weather vane is carefully inspected against defects as we certainly wouldn't want a 'beef' on this order."

STOCKS LISTLESS
NEW YORK (AP)—Listless trading and narrowly mixed prices prevailed in early afternoon in the stock market today. Fluctuations ranged from fractions to around a point either way. The drift, if anything, seemed to be slightly toward the downside.

GOP LAWMAKER DEMANDS COHEN QUIT OR BE FIRED

HARRISBURG (AP)—A Republican lawmaker has demanded the resignation or dismissal of Atty. Gen. Herbert B. Cohen for his part in an investigation of Broadmeadows Prison Farm, Delaware County.

"I suggest and demand the attorney general's immediate discharge from office," Sen. Watkins (R-Delaware) told the Senate yesterday.

Watkins said charges of dope usage, gambling and drinking of alcoholic beverages at the prison as made by Cohen last week were "phony and fantastic," adding:
"It's high time the attorney general stopped making a political football of the prison and either prosecutes or shuts up and apologizes."

"False Accusations"
Watkins said he would "welcome" a senate investigation into what he termed "the false accusations made by the attorney general."

He admitted that some of the misconduct charged against the institution by Cohen had been practiced some time ago but "liquor and gambling... were eliminated and those responsible for it were discharged" within the past year.

Watkins sparked a 45-minute discussion with a charge that Cohen was "picking on Delaware County and allowing other Democratic counties to continue gambling and other vices."

"Never Thought Of Politics"
Senate Democratic Leader Dent denied this, however, and said Cohen was conducting a "legitimate, legal operation of his office."

"I don't believe it has entered the attorney general's head to use his office politically," Dent asserted.

Watkins read a letter to the Senate in which George P. Heatherington, president of the Delaware County board of prison inspectors, labeled Cohen's charges "completely political in content."

The letter was addressed to Cohen and dated last Thursday. Heatherington said that while he has been president of the board there have never been any narcotics kept at the prison.

He said prison officials allowed inmates to work at county buildings but failed to see where this was a case of allowing prisoners "to go at large" as charged by Cohen.

IKE GETS FULL REPORT TODAY

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower gets a "more or less final" medical report today on how his heart has been standing the strain of his office.

He will weigh the opinion of his four doctors in deciding whether to bid for a second term.

Eisenhower probably will get the report about mid-afternoon. A bit later the doctors' findings will be made public at a news conference. Dr. Paul Dudley White of Boston, the chief consultant in the case, is expected to serve as spokesman for the medical team.

The President undoubtedly will give the report careful study. But he said last week that in deciding whether to seek re-election he probably will rely more on how he feels than on what the physicians tell him about his condition.

More than 4½ months have passed since he suffered a heart attack in Denver. He returned Jan. 9 to what he termed "the full duty of the presidency." His last full-scale checkover was in December.

He may make his final second-term decision during a week's vacation, starting tomorrow, at the secluded plantation estate of Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey at Thomasville, Ga. He has indicated he will announce his political plans about March 1.

Eisenhower told a news conference last Wednesday that any decision to run again would have to be based upon an honest conviction that he would be able to handle the job efficiently.

KANSAS CITY (AP)—In 13 years as an American League manager, Lou Boudreau's teams have never finished poorer than sixth. And that happened only twice, in 1946 with Cleveland and in 1952, his first year with the Boston Red Sox. Eight of his 13 teams have finished in the first division. In 1948 his Indians won the pennant and beat the Boston Braves in the World Series. His 1955 Kansas City Athletics finished fifth.

STEVENSON IS UNHURT WHEN TRACTOR FALLS

TIMBERLINE LODGE, Ore. (AP)—Adlai Stevenson, no stranger to close calls, escaped injury yesterday in the 35-foot plunge of a snow tractor that crunched through a snow cornice and toppled over. Five others aboard also were unhurt.

In previous brushes with danger, Stevenson weathered a helicopter crackup and an auto accident. And lightning struck an airliner carrying the Democratic leader nearly two years ago. The plane landed safely.

Stevenson, candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, was spending a brief holiday here while preparing an address for delivery at Seattle tonight.

Were "Very Lucky"
An aide said the speech would deal principally with foreign policy matters.

Following yesterday's mishap, the shaken tractor riders clambered nearly a half mile uphill through snow to this Mt. Hood lodge.

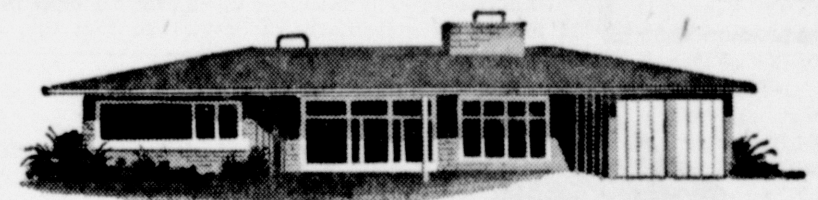

Stevenson said that as the tractor started to go over, he braced his hands on its metal sides. John Macone, the driver, cut off the ignition, and Ralph Wiese, district forest ranger, said that prevented a fire. The party, Wiese said, was "very lucky."

The United States uses about 130 million tons of iron ore a year.

What you should know about insuring your home

If you own your home, the new "package policies" can give you more coverage at less cost...

What if you had to buy your house room by room? The kitchen from one real estate man, the living room from another, the bedroom from a third... What a waste of time! And you would certainly pay a lot more, too.

Yet most home insurance is bought just that way—piece by piece. Fire insurance from one company, a burglary policy from another, a liability policy from a third.

The result of this "do-it-yourself" protection is that you may or may not have the right kinds of coverage... your coverages may be duplicated... and you've no doubt paid more than you should.

Fortunately, all this is on the way out. In most states today, the many coverages you need to protect your home have been combined into a single "package" policy.

This new development in home insurance gives you more protection in just one policy... it will probably cost you much less than you're now paying... and it will assure you better service through dealing with a single agent from one company.

WHAT PROTECTION YOU SHOULD HAVE:

As a homeowner, you should have adequate insurance protection in these four general areas:

1. PROTECTION FOR YOUR HOUSE

Your basic coverage should be against fire and lightning damage, including coverage for extra living costs while your home is uninhabitable after a fire... plus extended coverage against damage by windstorm, hail, explosion, smoke, riot, aircraft and other peoples' vehicles.

Your home should also be protected by additional extended coverage against damage by vandalism, your vehicles, water escape, heating system rupture, falling trees, collapse, glass breakage and landslides. Available also are all risk policies, which cover you against every kind of physical damage to your property except for a few exclusions such as war, flood and termites.

2. PROTECTION FOR YOUR OTHER BUILDINGS

If you own a garage, tool shed or other such buildings, these should be protected, too. The way it works, 10% of the fire and lightning coverage on your house is applied automatically as additional insurance to other-building losses.

This 10% coverage applies to any extra coverage on your house—extended coverage, additional extended coverage, etc. If you want more protection it can be purchased separately.

3. PROTECTION FOR YOUR PERSONAL PROPERTY

You should also insure the contents of your home against loss or damage by fire and lightning. And it's usually a good idea to protect your personal property while it is off your premises.

For other hazards to your personal property, you should have theft and burglary insurance. From 30 to 50% of your personal property's total value should be covered. Standard theft and burglary covers personal property only while it is on your premises. An extra coverage against off-premises theft can be added for an additional premium.

4. PROTECTION AGAINST LEGAL LIABILITY

A costly lawsuit could hurt you more than the worst fire. That's why home insurance should not end with property protection. If your dog bites a passerby, or a salesman slips on your walk, you may be legally liable.

You should therefore have personal liability protection which pays damages resulting from injuries to people or property for which you or any member of your family are responsible. This coverage usually includes a medical payments feature for injuries to others whether or not you are legally liable.

HOW MANY POLICIES FOR ONE HOME?

Normally, four policies could do the job for you. But this means separate rates... and separate records... and perhaps the problems of dealing with a separate company and agent for each policy.

So, the insurance industry has come up with the answer: all-in-one policies, often referred to as...

"PACKAGE" PROTECTION

This is a single insurance policy which includes all the protection the average homeowner needs. "Package" protection ends helter-skelter insurance buying... it provides fuller coverage in one policy with one premium... and it costs much less than buying each coverage separately.

NATIONWIDE'S HOMEOWNER'S MULTI-PROTECTION POLICY

In this state, Nationwide Insurance offers you just this kind of "package" protection for your home. Our completely new HOMEOWNER'S MULTI-PROTECTION policy includes all the coverages you probably need.

With this unique policy, just one premium can pay for all your coverages for free full years.

And you'll be dealing with just one company, through your neighborhood Nationwide representative—a skilled insurance advisor, expertly trained in more than 100 types of insurance, including every last detail of insurance for your home.

And the cost? You'll save up to 33% over the cost of buying each of these coverages separately.

If trouble comes, you can depend on Nationwide's modern, reliable claim service. Just one person to call no matter what the trouble. Damages are evaluated in a fair and friendly way, and your check is delivered to you promptly.

Now, for less money, you can protect your most expensive possession—your home—with one of the broadest home insurance policies available anywhere. For all the facts on the HOMEOWNER'S MULTI-PROTECTION policy, contact the Nationwide office nearest you, listed below.

"IN SERVICE WITH PEOPLE"

These four words—Nationwide's slogan—mean we are a "different" insurance company. We believe that people can help themselves by working together... that our policyholders should have a voice in the management of their companies... and that policyholders' money should be invested in activities which serve them better.

Because we believe these things, we give our policyholders a chance to speak up and be heard through their POLICYHOLDER ADVISORY COMMITTEES. In our more than 300 sales districts, representative policyholders elect delegates to regional committees, which then elect a company-wide Advisory Committee, which meets annually in Columbus.

Here our policyholders tell us what their needs are and suggest ways of filling those needs. Many tangible products and services have resulted from these meetings. Our new BRIDAL POLICY, for example, to pay wedding expenses... our new AUTO-GRAPHIC policy which makes it easy for you to read and understand your auto insurance. At these meetings, the HOMEOWNER'S MULTI-PROTECTION policy was approved enthusiastically... and requests were made for more "packages" of this type.

If you'd like to know more about Nationwide's Policyholder Advisory Committees, or if you'd like to attend one of the meetings—whether or not you are one of our 2,000,000 policyholders—a free pamphlet is yours for the asking. Just drop a card to:

WHITE CROWS, SPAGHETTI AND GEN. PATTON ARE SCRIBE'S TOPICS

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Typewriter tattle:

Would you like to know what it is that meadowlarks and robins sing about so early in the morning? Well, there is a way to find out — if you go for the superstitions. There was a belief in medieval times that anyone who ate the tongue of a white crow would understand the language of all birds. There are two problems involved:

1. The crow population of America has been estimated to be as high as three billions (that seems awfully high), but the Audubon Society is reported to have observed fewer than 100 albino crows in the last half century.
2. There are even fewer cook books which contain recipes on how to dish up crow tongues palatably.

Has "Nonskid Spaghetti?" Joe Pellegrino, a Boston macaroni magnate, is now trying to popularize something he calls "nonskid spaghetti."

It tastes exactly like ordinary spaghetti, but the strands have been given a permanent wave and a plate of them looks pretty much as your wife does when she shows up at breakfast with her hair in curlers. The advantage: The spaghetti can easily be entwined around a fork.

Pellegrino got the idea from Italian fishermen, who enjoy a curled form of spaghetti. He first merchandised his product under the name of "Fusilli."

What's in a name? As soon as he changed the name to "nonskid spaghetti," sales jumped 100 per cent.

More Building In '25
The present residential building boom, big as it is, isn't a record-breaker in terms of the population involved.

The Northwestern National Life Insurance Co. points out that the 1,300,000 nonfarm dwelling units built in 1925 came to an average of 36 for each 1,000 families.

But back in 1925 the rate was 47 new units for each 1,000 families.

There were 20 million nonfarm families in America in 1925. In 1955 there were about 36½ million.

How you gonna keep 'em down on the farm? The evidence seems to be that in America at least you can't — even though the towns, cities and suburbs become more and more crowded.

Not A Military Diplomat
The late Gen. George S. Patton, prophet and hero of American armored might, often got himself in hot water with his blunt opinions.

After the second World War he was among the first to declare there was no essential difference between fascism, nazism and communism. He thought them all bad. He said so.

While Patton will hardly go down in history as a military diplomat, he will be long renowned for the battle field boldness that won him brilliant success.

He was a great showman, a great actor, but above all a great soldier.

His Chief Precepts
To Wendell Phillips, an Indianapolis News editor and National Guard leader, I am indebted for the following summary of Patton's chief precepts as given by his admirer and comrade, Gen. Jacob Devers:

"1. In yourself demand the impossible.
"2. Always risk. Nothing worthwhile can be achieved without risking something.

He Knew Fear
"3. Never listen to the advice of fear."

Patton practiced what he preached. He was human and himself knew fear, but he also knew the terrible corrosion of purpose that fear can bring. Bravery came as hard to him as it did to any other man. By demanding the impossible of his troops — as he did of himself — he gained whatever immortal glory there can come from combat.

But no one knew the terrible price of it all more than he.

Lots Of Chips

My favorite mailman, who is delayed neither by storm, nor heat, nor gloom of night in the swift completion of his appointed rounds, has brought me a statistic which I feel impelled to share at once.

Naturally, you have been wondering how many potato chips are rolling off the assembly line in America. I am informed that if all the potato chips manufactured in 1954 were put in 10-cent bags and the bags were placed end to end they would encircle the globe 27½ times.

Somehow, some year, couldn't we all chip in a dime apiece and see that this is really done?

SENATOR SEES HUGE GAINS IN FARM INCOME

By EDWIN B. HAARINSON
WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.) predicted Monday that the new soil bank program "could add some two billion dollars to farm income this year" if Congress retains flexible price supports.

Aiken, in an interview, repeated his forecast of a presidential veto if Congress ties rigid price supports to the soil bank proposals of President Eisenhower and Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

His comments came after Chairman Ellender (D-La.) of the Senate Agriculture Committee and Sen. Young (R-ND) said they were willing to risk a veto in order to try to get higher mandatory supports for cotton, wheat, corn, rice and peanuts.

As the soil bank bill goes to the Senate will include this provision inserted by an 8-7 vote of the Agriculture Committee.

Need Price Boost

Ellender and Young contend the soil bank payments, authorized at $1,100,000,000 this year, would mean little actual profit to farmers unless something is also done to raise prices and support levels.

Sen. Anderson (D-NM), another member of the committee, supported Aiken's view that the President would veto the bill in its present form. But he added, in an NBC-TV interview, that he hopes Eisenhower never has the opportunity to do so. He called the bill "atrocious" and "completely inadequate."

Benson, in another NBC-TV interview, said he couldn't say with certainty what Eisenhower would

USE TEAR GAS TO CURB RIOT

RICHMOND, Tex. (AP)—Tear gas bombs and fire hoses broke up a riot by screaming, cursing convicts at Harlem Prison Farm No. 1 here Sunday.

Approximately 75 armed officers surrounded the two-story concrete dormitory and blocked off all nearby roads in the area after the convicts started smashing windows and setting hundreds of mattresses on fire.

There apparently was no attempt at escape. About half the 400 prisoners at the farm took part in the 14-hour riot. With the exception of 12 Anglo-American trustees, all of the convicts are of Latin-American descent.

O. B. Ellis, manager of the Texas prison system, said the riot was started by about 12 prisoners who he said "appeared to be under the influence of drugs."

Ellis said he knew of no reason for the outbreak of violence nor could he say where the prisoners could have obtained narcotics.

In quelling the riot, firemen directed high-pressure streams of water through the dormitory windows and Texas Rangers then threw in tear gas and nausea gas bombs.

do, but said that if the President asks his advice he would recommend a veto.

He said he didn't think either he or Eisenhower would approve a farm bill including the high price supports, and added, "I think probably my advice will not be necessary in this case."

Calling a return to the high support levels "a step backward," he noted that Eisenhower already has said such action would "defeat the main object" of creating a soil bank to reduce crop surpluses.

LABOR CHIEFS SEE CAMPAIGN EDGE FOR GOP

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—AFL-CIO political strategists have decided that "the Republicans will have an edge" in the 1956 presidential race regardless of whether President Eisenhower decides to run again.

This view is contained in an analysis of the political situation submitted confidentially to the 29-member AFL-CIO Executive Council during its winter session here by AFL-CIO political codirectors James L. McDevitt and Jack Kroll.

A major reason for this appraisal is that Eisenhower's recommendation for increased spending for schools, housing, social security, health and road have "to a large extent deprived the Democrats of some of their most appealing issues."

The conclusion is reached that the decline in farm prices is "the most forceful" domestic issue left to the Democrats.

"Although it is impossible to evaluate the presidential election until there is an announcement of Eisenhower's intention," the report says, "the Republicans will have an edge in the race."

"This will result from a shift in the party character to provide more appeal for city voters and from their control of communications."

The view is expressed that Eisenhower's announcement of his political intentions is "being delayed" for two reasons:

- "1. Further shorten the campaign time to give the greatest possible advantage to a blitz campaign into which large financial resources could be poured and in which the full advantage of the one-party press, radio and television could be mobilized.
- "2. Solidify the hold of the Eisenhower-Dewey wing on the Republican party by delaying the organization of the anti-Eisenhower forces around any single candidate."

Forty per cent of U.S. exports go to the Western Hemisphere.

Directors Vote

a motion making the raise effective at mid-year. No motion was made and after a brief discussion the proposal was dropped on the grounds that no final ruling had yet been secured on the earlier action. It was feared that further board action on the salary matter might confuse the picture.

An unofficial tabulation of the votes on the salary roll call showed Cumberland solidly against the motion, Franklin's single vote against it, three Freedom directors voting "yes," Gettysburg solidly for it, Highland three "yes" and two "no"; Mt. Joy four "no" and one "yes" and Straban three "no" and two "yes."

Voted On Recommendation
The motion was to approve the Teacher committee proposal to give a $400 salary raise to all professional employees excepting those employed in the last year who would be raised to $3,000. The committee had added: "This increase shall be considered to cover any state increase up to this amount and shall not be considered as an additional increase over and above any passed by the current legislation program."

As the salary matter came up Monday, Dr. Wickerham pointed out its purpose was to bring the base pay up to that of surrounding districts and to make it possible for the local board to hire teachers that meet "the high standards we have maintained for many years."

A report was submitted to the board by its teacher committee on a meeting that group held last month with a committee of teachers on salary matters.

"That report follows in part: 'Teachers expressed the opinion that salaries should be attractive enough to draw to the profession and hold able, skillful and successful personnel and should enable teachers to acquire a respectable social and economic status in the community.'

"One of the teachers submitted the results of a survey of salaries in this community of more than 20 occupations, both professional and non-professional, showing the average salary for professional men or women here to be $8,900 and for non-professionals $3,872. The average grade school teacher's salary here is $3,581 and the average for high school teachers is $3,906. The average of all teachers is $3,756, a little more than $100 below the average for non-professionals."

The report also said teachers favor a single salary schedule in which the teacher is "paid for the job on the basis of qualifications and experience without regard to the teacher's sex or the number of dependents at home." The report showed that teachers do not favor a merit system for salary raises because it has been found too difficult to administer elsewhere. No school system in Pennsylvania is using a merit system, the committee was told by the teachers.

The committee told the board the teachers expect to get the $400 increase either from board action or by state legislation and are giving their attention to further salary recommendations beyond that $400 raise. Teachers submitted figures on comparative salaries in Carlisle, Mechanicsburg, New Cumberland and Hershey. All are higher than the local rates. The teachers have promised to have further salary recommendations for the board by budget-making time.

The board committee's recommendation "strongly urged" approval of the $400 salary raise "to put this district in a position to hire teachers and to give our present teachers a salary position already attained by those in many surrounding districts of this size."

Directors returned frequently to financial reports before them showing that all but Gettysburg, Straban and Freedom Townships are behind with payments to the jointure — and that several of the districts are in debt because of the delay in payment of state appropriations.

Can Meet Payroll
Business Manager Kenneth G. Reinhardt Jr. said sums paid in Monday by member boards provide money to meet the next teacher payroll this week.

Franklin paid in $19,398 and owes about $4,000 more to the district. Straban paid in $18,000 and has a credit of about $2,800. Freedom paid $5,000 and has a credit of about $1,700. Gettysburg has advanced $63,183.

Early in the meeting the directors had read a letter from Paul Grove, president of the local PSEA group, expressing the teacher's appreciation for the board's interest in salary matters and urging the adoption of a local salary schedule. The letter conveyed two resolutions adopted by the teachers. He drew a distinction between "a mere living wage," a wage giving "economic independence" and a "cultural wage."

Might Get State Help
Dr. Keefe submitted figures showing that the $400 increase would cost about $30,000 but that expected state legislation would provide more than $21,000 in the appropriations next year toward the extra cost. The remainder would be borne by the school districts. The present uncertainty of that state help to that extent was pointed out.

Dr. Keefe also renewed a warning issued last month that three extra school rooms for grade school pupils will be needed next fall and he said again "it's time to start looking for the site for our next school building." He submitted grade school enrollment figures and registered birth records for the beginners for the next five years.

He pointed out that first graders in 1948 numbered 174. This year there are 124. "It is imperative that we get another building underway. We need it this fall," he said.

TWO SENTENCED

his address as York, was continued until Wednesday morning when Mrs. Lehigh was not in court.

John B. Riggs, Hanover, was ordered to pay $15 per week for the support of his wife and two children following a hearing on a desertion and non-support charge. He also paid the costs and posted $500 bond.

Petition Is Refused
A petition of I. William Welandt, Gettysburg R. 3, for a reduction in a support order was refused and he was ordered to pay the costs.

The court set March 12 for hearings on petitions of the Cumberland Twp. supervisors to establish Maple Ave. and Cedar Ave. in the Grandview Terrace area as public roads. The petitions showed each to be 56 feet, one inch in width and to extend from the Biglerville Rd. to the Table Rock Rd. The action of the supervisors was taken as the result of petitions from the landowners along the roads, according to the petitions filed with the court.

11 Accounts Approved
Eleven accounts were approved by the court. The accounts and the amounts listed for distribution follow: Carl E. Prosser, executor of the estate of Frances M. Leader Sends Up "Freedom" Balloon HARRISBURG (P)—Gov. Leader opened Pennsylvania's "Crusade for Freedom" drive yesterday by releasing the first of 150 "freedom" balloons launched from the main steps of the State Capitol Building.

In sending the first helium-filled balloon aloft, the governor referred to the launching as a "symbolic" reminder of other balloons carrying messages of hope for the enslaved peoples of Europe. The white balloons, marked with the world "Crusade for Freedom" in large blue letters, contained literature explaining the crusade and the fund-raising drive for Radio Free Europe.

Harrisburg Eagles Aerie sponsored the capital city's ceremony in the nationwide drive for "truth dollars."

PROPERTY CAN'T PROTECT ITSELF against changing times and conditions!

It's really a serious matter. The value of investments can drop. A family business producing adequate income now could fall behind competition tomorrow.

A three-fold safeguard for any such property you leave your heirs is the experience, group judgment, and continuing life of a corporate executor-trustee such as our institution. We invite you to come in and investigate the advantages that our trust services offer. A talk costs you nothing and does not obligate you in any way.
